 METEORSCATTER in June 2010 **

June is known for the return of three remarkable daytime showers. Major showers Arietids and Zeta-Perseids, peaking respectively on June 7th and June 9th in 2010, are both characterized by a broad maximum (with possible submaxima) and high ZHR value, thus making first half of June one of the best periods of the year for MS-Dxing Even Beta-Taurids, peaking June 28, is characterized by fairly good ZHR. Have a look to shower predictions for June 2010 at our MMM MS Propagationpage: http://www.mmmonvhf.de/ms.php

W4NH will again be operating in the June contest from our usual location in EM85jm. We will be operating limited multi on the 50, 144, 222 and 432 MHz bands running 1 KW+ and stacked beams on all 4 bands. We will have WSJT capability on 6 and 2 meters and would like to make schedules using that mode Sunday morning from around midnight to 8 AM. We would also like to hear from any rovers that will be in our area of the country. 73, Jim, W4KXY

 SOTA Plans from 2E0FSR **

Hi All, Hope it's ok to post this here as due to differences of opinion I am unable to post on the reflector. On Saturday 31st July my son and I are heading for G/LD land. We are staying a week near Coniston and plan to activate a few mountains (wx permitting) whilst there using 2M SSB then 2M FM. I will be using my trusty Yaesu FT817ND and Diamond 5 element yagi as usual. Calls as always much appreciated from regular chasers and new ones too. I am well aware that on a trip like this forward planning is vital so I have drawn up an itineray of what

I think is viable and I have already done a reconaissance mission finding parking spots and the like. Looking forward to the adventure. 73 SOURCE: Chris 2E0FSR on SOTA-Reflector

 PJ7 - 8-12 june & VP2E - 12-21 june in the air on 50 MHz **

IK1PMR & PA3LEO will be on DXpedition to VP2E 12-21 june (and a few days PJ7 8-12 june). I have talked to Andrea and he is willing to try 6m as well. He has a K3, so 100W, and I will provide him with an optimized 4 ele yagi (modified 5 ele Tonna). As they are going right in the peak of the season they should be able to contact Europe despite the limited hardware used.

 3C9B AND 3C0C DXPEDITION (Update) **

Dates have been announced for the upcoming Bioko Island (AF-010), Equatorial Guinea, and Annobon Island (AF-039) DXpedition. Both operations will only be manned by two Spanish operators. Operators mentioned are: Elmo/EA5BYP (SSB and RTTY) and Javi/EA5KM (CW and SSB). The team is expected to leave Thursday, June 3rd, for Bioko Island, and be on the air the very next day as 3C9B. Activity will last until June 7th. They state, "We will spend as much time as possible on the radio. There we will pick up our supplies to live on the island of Annobon for 14 days." The operators also mention that (edited) "they have undertaken a great effort, both physical and financial, in preparing this DXpedition, but unfortunately, for reasons beyond our control, we have been unable to go in April." Look for activity to be on 160-6 meters using CW, SSB and RTTY. ...

 VE7XF 50MHz cross country trip **

VE7XF/mobile will be leaving on June 2 for a west-to-east coast-to-coast road trip, CQing all the way from CN89 (Vancouver) through 53 grids, arriving in FN76 (PEI) approximately June 10. The route will be via the Trans-Canada highway all the way. Some of the grids will be rare due to lack of activity in the wilderness, but only a few will be good for the FF challenge. Once in PEI, the call will be VY2AKX (best I could do since my '95 -'96 operation as VY2KX) until about July 13, then back on the road for a return trip to CN89 through the same grids. I'm going to try to get on for the CQ VHF contest from somewhere in Manitoba as VE4KX. I'll be calling on 50.125 when the band is quiet, moving to 50.140 when the band opens IC-706 to a KB6KQ halo on the road, and an IC-756 Pro3 to a 4el yagi when in a fixed mode in PEI. QSL all above to VE7XF (see QRZ.COM) with the usual SASE (US postage OK). May the Es gods be with us! SOURCE: Ralph, VE7XF, VE4KX, VY2AKX via Reflector
